Art Unit: 1794

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

2. Claims 1, 5-7,9-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Yamamoto et al (6,824,601).

Yamamoto et al discloses the claimed (Ti,Al), (N) coating on the claimed CBN substrate with the claimed proportions of x, the claimed thickness and claimed relation.

Applicant's arguments filed 7/10/08 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The applicant argues that the disclosed coating is Yamamoto necessarily includes Cr which is outside the scope of the instant invention. The examiner does not find this persuasive since claim 6 includes elements such as Cr substituted for the Ti component, and the rejection stands. The applicant argues that the disclosed thickness is outside of the claimed range. The applicant's attention is directed to column 9, line 55 where the claimed thickness range is disclosed. And thus the rejection stands. The applicant argues that the coating is not on the claimed cBN substrate. The applicant's attention is directed to column 10, line 11-12 where cBN is explicitly disclosed. The applicant is reminded that the reference is not limited to just the examples but what the reference as a whole discloses and thus the instant invention is anticipated.

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yamamoto et al (6,824,601) in view of Toshiba Tungaloy (JP 2002-003284).

Yamamoto et al discloses the invention substantially as claimed except for the specifics of the cBN substrate.

Toshiba Tungaloy discloses that the claimed cBN substrate may be used as a tool to be coated.

Thus it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to use the claimed cBN substrate in the invention of Yamamoto et al, as these cBN substrates are known substrates in the tool art as shown by Toshiba Tungaloy.

5. Claim 4 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Art Unit: 1794

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
